Merry Cellars Winery

Our Passion

Premium Vineyards

Through gentle treatment in all phases of the winemaking process, we craft wines that you will enjoy time and time again - wines that we are proud to put our family's name on. Our grapes are hand picked and hand sorted. With gentle crushing, restrained pressing and minimal filtration, we create wines that are age-worthy, yet approachable... and just a little rugged around the edges.

One of the most exciting aspects of making wine in Washington State is the diversity of grape growing regions. A wide range of microclimates support a variety of grapes, including several difficult-to-grow and lesser known varieties. We work closely with our growers throughout the year to produce wines that showcase our region's unique appellations and terroir. In addition to selecting vineyards with only the highest quality fruit, we seek out sustainable, low input and Salmon Safe growers. Some of the vineyards with which we are proud to partner include:

- Stillwater Creek Vineyard, Columbia Valley
- Seven Hills Vineyard, Walla Walla Valley
- Les Collines Vineyard, Walla Walla Valley
- Pepper Bridge Vineyard, Walla Walla Valley
- Stone Ridge Vineyard, Columbia Valley
- Echo West Vineyard, Columbia Valley

*Imagine the wine you buy is a journey.
Like the open road, each glass awakens new possibilities.*

Winemaker

Because he believes that wine should be a regular feature of daily life, winemaker Patrick Merry creates wines that are comfortable and approachable, designed to complement the everyday experience. His wine making philosophy is relaxed and minimalist, “Our goal is to showcase varietal character and terroir. Working with only the best fruit and treating each lot as an expression of the vine, we make every effort to avoid the trend toward over-processed, homogenous wines.” With a passionate focus on quality and attention to detail throughout all phases of the wine making process, Patrick gently guides his wines to maturity as they achieve their full potential.

Custom Labels

Perfect for special events, corporate and personal gifts, fundraising events, and regional or community projects, Merry Cellars' custom wine labels allow you to create a unique and memorable way to promote your organization, thank your customers or make your wedding reception that much more your own. "This wine carries a whiff of honeyed fig, which opens out into a luscious, rich, satisfying, full-bodied Semillon. It's a complete wine, which seems to run through a lifetime's evolution in the mouth, finishing with a creamy, plush mix of fruit and barrel. Long, seamless and delicious."

"A deep yellow gold, lushly scented with orange blossom, citrus peel, ripe pear and other stone fruits, this rich oily take on Sauvignon Blanc was done in stainless steel, but has the textural complexity of barrel fermentation. It's a grippingly delicious bottle."

"In 2002, Patrick Merry of Pullman, Wash., began working with this site in the Frenchman Hills overlooking Royal City, and the experience shows. Plums, moist earth, cola and vanilla aromas await, but they don't prepare you for the massive mouth feel. Boysenberry jam and licorice create a density unlike most Merlots, and one that demands rich cuts of meat."

"We love it when everything comes together. Such is the case with this unusual Bordeaux variety that is grown in small quantities in the Walla Walla Valley. Merry Cellars is in Pullman, home to Washington State University... The wine is loaded with aromas of black cherries, black pepper and fresh Santa Rosa plums, while the flavors reveal bold, peppery flavors of ripe dark fruit and anise."

“Hard and compact, its cassis and blue/blackberry fruit flavors are matched to ripe, still chewy tannins. There’s a shell around this wine, yet it seems nicely layered, with suggestions of earth, leather and coffee.”

“The 2007 Mourvedre-Syrah Stillwater Creek Vineyard contains nearly equal proportions of each component... Dense, layered, and structured for extended cellaring, this intense, brawny, promising effort will reward 6-8 years of patience and offer a drinking window extending through 2022.”

“Owner/winemaker Patrick Merry took his two best barrels of Cabernet Franc - one from Stillwater Creek Vineyard and one from Snipes Canyon - to craft this delicious red wine. It shows off aromas and flavors of sweet spices, black cherries and chocolate overtones. A well-balanced wine that invites further exploration.”

“The winery is in Pullman, Wash., so alumni and fans of Washington State University will appreciate the nostalgic football team photo on this bottle and the “Savory Victory” slogan it carries. This blend... roars with complex notes of black cherries, blueberries, mocha and green peppercorns. Tannins put up a brawny front, but don’t step over the line of scrimmage, allowing for a late dash of baker’s chocolate.”

“Subtle usage of older French and American oak allowed Patrick Merry to provide elegance and style with fruit from this Frenchman Hills site... On the attack, it’s loaded with more of those juicy berries and pushed along by supple tannins into a finish of coffee with cream.”

VIOGNIER

“The result is a refreshing approach with notes of cooked apples, cinnamon, citrus and crushed leaf. A deliciously rich, almost oily, mid palate gets whisked away by acidity, where a hint of herbaceousness in the finish should go well with ceviche.”

Silt, loam, and windblown glacial loess harmonize with Walla Walla’s legendary climate to give this Merlot its fullness of character. Round and ripe, this wine will delight with tightly woven flavors of black cherry, currant, and plum wrapped in hints of leather and oak.
